The W.M. Kent Jewell Barnyard was dedicated in June 2020.

The Importance of Our Services

Many individuals with serious mental health and substance use disorders frequently use the local emergency rooms for treatment or end up in local jails, which causes a financial burden on local hospitals and the government. It is estimated untreated adults with serious behavioral health disorders and substance use disorders cost the Greater Kansas City metro area $624 million per year. The statistics below show the savings for just 50 clients.
